

Contents

1	Introduction	4
1.1	Motivation	4
1.2	Aim and scope	6
1.3	Relation to the literature	7
1.3.1	Strategic delegation	8
1.3.2	Swing voters	9
1.3.3	Lobbying	11
1.4	A short overview of the chapters	12
2	Why Does Centralization Fail to Internalize Policy Externalities?	15
2.1	Introduction	15
2.2	Related literature	17
2.3	The model	19
2.4	The social optimum	20
2.5	Decentralized decision making	21
2.6	Centralized decision making with sincere delegation	22
2.7	Centralized decision making with strategic delegation	23
2.8	Optimal financing rules	31
2.9	Concluding remarks	35
2.10	Appendix	37
3	Conspicuous Public Goods and Policy Rivalry	40
3.1	Introduction	40
3.2	The model	44

3.3	Sincere delegation	45
3.4	Strategic delegation	47
3.4.1	Decentralized decision making	48
3.4.2	Centralized equilibrium	49
3.5	Concluding remarks	51
4	Strategic Delegation of Environmental Policy Making	53
4.1	The model	56
4.2	Strategic delegation	59
4.2.1	The political race to the bottom	60
4.2.2	The political race to the top	61
4.3	Concluding Remarks	62
5	Legislative Bargaining and Lobbying in Federations	63
5.1	Introduction	63
5.2	Decentralized policy making	66
5.3	The effect of centralization on the size of lobbies	70
5.4	The effect of centralization on the number of lobbies	74
5.5	Concluding remarks	76
6	Electoral Rules and Trade Protection	79
6.1	Introduction	79
6.2	Related Literature	81
6.3	The economic model	82
6.4	The political economy model	85
6.4.1	Proportional elections	87
6.4.2	Majoritarian elections	89
6.4.3	Checks and balances	90
6.5	Empirical results	91
6.6	Discussion	95
7	Summary and directions for future research	97
7.1	Main findings	98
7.2	What is missing?	100

7.3 Directions for future research	101
Summary in Dutch	104
Bibliography	111