The authors would like to make the following corrections to the published paper [1]. The changes are as follows:

(1)

There is a copyediting mistake in the paper, which affects the article's readability and understanding.

A correction has been made in Section 2.1.1: "To better navigate and understand these differences, this research uses the discourse typology developed by Calisto-Friant et al. (2020), which has also been used to analyze the EU's CE policies [64], CE discourses in Norway [65,66], the European plastics strategy [67] and competing discourses on the CE in Australiaindustry practices in Italy and the Netherlands [68]".

This has been changed to:

"To better navigate and understand these differences, this research uses the discourse typology developed by Calisto-Friant et al. (2020), which has also been used to analyze the EU's CE policies [64], CE discourses in Norway [65,66], the European plastics strategy [67] and competing discourses on the CE in Australia [68]".

(2)

A correction has been made in Section 4.3: "Future research should further analyze these and other policy options and approaches to addressing the CE 95 for plastics".

This has been changed to:

"Future research should further analyze these and other policy options and approaches to addressing the CE transition for plastics".
