

Reviewer Thank You

The editors of the International Journal of the Commons would like to thank the following individuals who reviewed manuscripts between 2007–2010. The voluntary peer-review process is at the heart of an academic journal. The insights and advice from our reviewers have helped to establish the journal's enviable reputation by selecting and shaping the articles that subsequently make their way into our journal. (The list only includes those reviewers registered on our web based journal management system (OJS). This means that some who have reviewed may not be on the list. To those reviewers omitted, we apologize, but also thank you very much.)
