Tables
1.1 Annual growth (%) in value added in garments 44
1.2 World-leading garment producers, importers and exporters (in US$ value) 47
1.3 Global sourcing patterns, late 1990s 52
1.4 Position of supplier countries in international production networks 54
2.1 US and EU chain governance structures 69
3.1 Shifts in the top-10 garment exporters to the US (in US$ 1,000) 89
3.2 Relative importance HTS 9802 garment imports into the US (customs value, US$ millions) 89
3.3 Basic indicators of the Mexican garment industry, 1994-2000 95
3.4 Roles of garment actors in US-Mexican garment production networks 99
4.1 The regional economy: employment structure and changes, 1994-1999 117
4.2 Industrial parks in La Laguna, 2000 119
4.3 Population data La Laguna, 1990-2000 127
5.1 Firm size distribution, La Laguna 139
5.2 Company structure of garment companies in La Laguna 142
5.3 Number and location of production facilities directly linked to companies in La Laguna 145
5.4 Labour force characteristics and wage levels per company size 147
5.5 Basic characteristics of La Laguna and other garment clusters 150
6.1 Features of subcontracting relations, La Laguna 156
6.2 Organisations involved in industrial/regional economic development, La Laguna 162
7.1 Main US clients of the Laguna garment cluster 182
7.2 Mapping linkages between El Paso and La Laguna 191
7.3 Insertion of local SMEs in export networks 196
7.4 Domestic market distributing channels of garment companies in La Laguna 199
8.1 Garment companies in La Laguna and their position within the production chain 224
8.2 Functional position of manufacturers in production networks 225
8.3 Main functions of rural factories, per type of factory 242
9.1 General characteristics of the Laguna, Tehuacan and Yucatán garment clusters 263
9.2 Main buyers with interests in La Laguna, Tehuacan and Yucatán 264